

Corporate policy

of the companies

AS Drives & Services GmbH
AS Maschinenbau & Hydraulik GmbH

- Our employees, the people around us and the environment should not be harmed by our activities.
- Our employees are the most important part of our business activities and are regularly involved in decision-making processes by the management.
- The fulfillment of all legal and official requirements is a matter of course for us.
- We assess the environmental impacts of our operations and reduce them, as far as economically feasible, using the best available technology.
- We want to continuously develop and improve in environmental protection, safety and quality.
- We meet the expectations of our customers through economically high-quality products/services and set ourselves the goal of offering highly innovative products on the market.
- Reliability and professional work in the field of maintenance should make us the leader in our field.
- We actively maintain the relationship with our suppliers and consider them as long-term business partners who have an important share in the quality of our products.
- We promote awareness of the environment, safety, quality and health of all employees through regular training.
- We consider aspects of environmental protection, safety and quality in all our planning for the development of new or modification of existing processes and in our daily work.
- We maintain an open dialogue with the public about the impact of our company's activities on our environment.
- Our corporate principles are binding for every employee. As a result, every single employee makes his or her contribution to achieving our goals.
